

Welcome to people driven transport

Head of Integrated Transport - £47,687 - £52,023

Thanks to the innovative way we align individual skills with the overall strategic aims of our service, transport at Central Bedfordshire can genuinely lay claim to being powered by people. Right now, we have a talented team of transport experts running our transport services and our commercial fleet. What we're looking for is a leader – a strong people and performance manager who can inspire change and deliver a robust, cost-effective transport service that supports our drive towards sustainable communities.

You will need the ability to get to grips with significant transport issues as well as being a prolific change manager, experienced in financial and performance management and able to integrate the transport strategy with other areas of our organisation.

If you also have impressive leadership, troubleshooting and relationship-building skills then we'd like to speak with you.
