

Captain of industry?

When you're at the top of your profession and considering your next challenge, why not consider joining one of the biggest names in the premium global airline industry? We're now looking to drive business change by further strengthening our leadership teams, with the appointment of new senior talent across several departments. We're seeking inspiring leaders with vision, who can motivate teams to achieve ambitious objectives, centered around business performance and most importantly, customer experience. Find out about the executive roles on offer at www.bcaptainofindustry.com

